County Code Enforcement notices SI property owners;
it's time for wastewater system connection...

The Connection Task Force at its' Feb. 8th meeting agreed to have Code Enforcement send a Notice of Violation to the south Stock Island property owners in need of connection to the central wastewater treatment facility. The notice will provide 45-days for a response.

The wastewater collection lines have been capped at the owners' property lines since the completion of the project almost 2-years ago. State Law and County Code require a property owner to connect to a wastewater collection system available at the property line.

Property owners not providing a satisfactory response to the Notice of Violation are subject to a summons to appear before a County Grand Master.
